

EventLocations.us

Featured in the New York Times "Wedding" section

10 Ways to Make Your Wedding Your Own

If no two couples are alike, no two weddings should be either. Make your wedding extra special.

#1 We're Getting Married - Google Us!

EventLocations.us (formerly LocationsMagazine.com) brings the digital age to wedding planning; along with its 180 subsidiary web sites, they cover all the angles, including planning, travel, registries and bridal shows. "We worked hard on search engine optimization," says its Publisher, Joel Scher. Google these words, "Manhattan Wedding Locations" and our site www.ManhattanWeddingLocations.com appears on PAGE 1." Likewise, Google "NJ Corporate Events" and our site www.NJCateringHall.com appears on PAGE 1. Google "Queens Wedding Locations" and our site www.QueensWeddingLocations.com appears on PAGE 1.

#3 Your Ticket to Paradise

Indulge your wanderlust for less than you'd think, says Joel Scher, publisher of www.EventLocations.us. Incredibly searchable Web site (with 180 subsidiary sites) offers an exclusive honeymoon/destination wedding guide. Why the rise in destination weddings? Says Scher, "A bride doesn't want the same wedding her mother had."

www.EventLocations.us is filled with promotional offers, including the "Win A Honeymoon" sweepstakes, in partnership with Superclubs. The prize: an all-inclusive week in Jamaica, Bahamas, Brazil or Dominican Republic.

#5 Fly Me to the Wedding - Moon

With a wedding-moon, once you're there, you're there: no rushing for planes, and that marvelous setting you've provided to all of your guests becomes your private paradise. Joel Scher of Event Locations Magazine and www.EventLocations.us says, "Some hotels in exotic locations are actually offering free weddings with your honeymoon." Check their 300-page color magazine and comprehensive site for great deals.

